THE positions reached by the Italian army in Southern Albania, as indicated in dispatches, reveal Berat almost enveloped—on the west by the positions reached on the lower and middle Semeni River, and on the east by those occupied on the Osum and the heights of Tomorica.

The advance was begun on July 6 between the coast and the Tomorica Valley with the French on the right wing between the upper Devoli River and the Tomorica. The middle and lower Vojus was the scene of the principal Italian advance. By the 9th they had captured the town of Fieri, which lies between the Semeni and the Vojus, about eight miles from the sea. In this operation the Italians, assisted by British monitors, which served as a bridgehead, were able to cross the Vojus and to carry the heights on the northern bank between Levani and the Pohani Monastery. They also captured the Austrian strongholds of Cafa Grava and Corocop. Meanwhile the French had taken the ridge of Bofina between Cafa Recit and Mali Gjaparit.

ALLIES' OBJECTIVE.

According to all strategic plans in this section, the Shkumbin River, along which runs from Durazzo to Lake Ohrid, the old Roman road, the Via Egnatia, is the Allies' objective. In December, 1917, the Allies tried to hold this road, which reaches Monastir, but only succeeded in recouping the Burian army. They also captured Durazzo and concentrated at Avlonas, but were repelled. A year later was to form a junction with the left wing of the Allies in Macedonia after their occupation of Monastir.

Between these two roads, the northern one, Via Egnatia, in the possession of the Austrians, and the southern, Via Tsepeloni and Korita, in the hands of the Allies, a remarkable way of the Atlantic armament and food necessary for the main campaign was found. It is a road from Levani, now crossed by the Italians, and the other due south from Eibalon. From the Italian side it is followed by the roads from Avlonas and from Tsepeloni.

AN IMPORTANT ROAD.

The Via Egnatia used the Shkumbin and Vardar valleys on its way to Saloniki via Monastir (Herskiai) in the Roman and Crusading days. The road was very bad and we must have patience, but this development is certain and it effect inevitable. America's part in this will be great. It is a long way off in their main trench system of the enemy. The two nations engaged in the war have sent their youth and middle-aged men to war.

ROME, July 11.—The Italian army in the second battle on the Plave, which ended in another Italian victory, showed that it had entirely regained the fighting efficiency which rendered it famous throughout the operations against Gorizia and on the Carso mountains, where for two years, with inferior war material, it succeeded in standing against the most powerful defensive organization," says Gen. Corsi, the Tribuna's military critic, remarking that the Austrian offensive in grand style ended in notable territorial gains for the Italians. Continuing, he says:

JULY 11.—Speaking in London today, Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the British Admiralty, said that mines were hemming in the submarines, which now had less fuel and he was glad to say there were fewer of them. Referring to the great mine fields, which were notably reducing the submarines, Sir Eric said they stretched from Norway to the south coast of Scotland. There was a barrage across the Dover, he added, and mines in Helgoland Bight. Some of the best craft of the navy, which certainly should be at the corps d'elite, had gone into the night at night.

Gen. Nicholas Semenov, Soviet and soldier of fortune, has fallen into the hands of officials recently on a mission to the United States. He was again arrested with draft plot.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Draft contingents of the total of American men under arms in the Army and Navy for the month of July, 1918, are now registered, to complete the year's programme. If, as is almost certain, the general increase of the draft will be another extension of the remaining five months of the year, there will be a force of 4,000,000 under arms before the close of 1918.

These figures include Army, Navy, and Marine forces. Secretary Baker has announced there are more than 1,000,000 American soldiers abroad.

Secretary Daniels has not announced what proportion of the 450,000 men in the naval forces is abroad, but it is fair to assume that more than half the total is in foreign service.

Having said this, it is to be noted that the United States has been asked to contribute to the war effort approximately 1,250,000 abroad at the beginning of the second quarter of the second year of American participation in the war.

For this reason it is probable that there will be less information given out as to the embarkation of American troops for France. Secretary Daniels has given his permission to the public about troop movements. When there was a "round number" to announce abroad, when he gave the news that the million mark had been crossed.

KEEP HUN GUERRISH.

There is authority for the statement that the Germans will be kept guessing about American strength in the future. It is believed announcements of large numbers have served the purpose of provoking the submarine to a dismal failure in preventing American participation in the war.

FRANCE GOES BASEBALL CRAZY;
TO GIVE WILSON CITIZENSHIP.BY M. F. MURPHY.
(ATLANTIC CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PARIS, July 11.—Baseball, which the Americans have been playing all over France ever since the weather permitted, is at last making an impression on the French youth. At first merely curious spectators, they grew to have more interest, then began to imitate and play in a shy, crude way with makeshift bats and balls.

Games every Sunday by Americans in the Bois de Boulogne and other grounds near Paris have taught the French boys how it is done and they can be seen in all unoccupied spaces going through the motions of the American game.

The Paris League of American teams at a meeting decided to encourage the adoption of the game here in every way possible. The Y.M.C.A. agreed to furnish balls and bats, to be distributed among the French youngsters.

Having named a street for President Wilson, a movement has started to confer upon him the citizenship of Paris. The proposal was made before the Municipal Council and before presenting it to the full sitting the Council has been asked to look up just what privileges the title carried.

ARMY OF FOUR MILLION FOR AMERICA THIS YEAR.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—When the last of the July draft contingent moves to camp late this month, the United States will have more than 5,000,000 men under arms in its Army and Navy forces. And if the movement of men to camps progresses according to schedule for the remaining five months of the year, there will be a force of 4,000,000 under arms before the close of 1918.

These figures include Army, Navy, and Marine forces. Secretary Baker has announced there are more than 1,000,000 American soldiers abroad.

Secretary Daniels has not announced what proportion of the 450,000 men in the naval forces is abroad, but it is fair to assume that more than half the total is in foreign service.

Having said this, it is to be noted that the National Army furnished a total of approximately 1,250,000 at the beginning of the second quarter of the second year of American participation in the war.

There still remain enough men of the first draft in class I supplied by the second class now registered, to complete the year's programme. If, as is almost certain, the general increase of the draft will be another extension of the remaining five months of the year, there will be a force of 4,000,000 under arms before the close of 1918.

Class I of the draft provides a round number from which the remaining 1,000,000 men will be drawn to provide the fourth million. In recent registration of the class just turning 31 there were more than 700,000 registered.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The suspicion that Germany has annexed the Russian navy, which would make the aggregate strength of the German and Russian navies 25 per cent. greater, is causing considerable uneasiness in the Navy Department.

This disclosure today illuminates vividly the cost of the Russian fiasco to the United States and its allies and the possibilities of German aggression.

Pro-Germans Expelled from Western Siberia by Czechoslovaks is Report from Pekin

In Russia.

BOLSHEVIKI OVERTHROWN BY FORCE OF PRO-ALLIES

Lenine Authority Defeated in the Vast Region Between Urals and the Chinese Frontier.

IBY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.
LONDON, July 11.—Virtually all of Western Siberia is in control of the Czechoslovaks, according to a Reuters dispatch from Pekin dated July 10. The dispatch states that the Bolsheviks have been overthrown in the whole region from Tobolsk east of the Urals to Semipalatinsk, 750 miles to the southeast, near the Chinese frontier.

The trans-Siberian railway is under Czechoslovak control from Tcheliabinsk, in the Ural Mountains at the junction of the branches of the road which lead to South and North Russia, to Krasnoyarsk, 1200 miles to the east.

The report confirms earlier dispatches to the effect that the Bolsheviks at Irkutsk have been defeated by the Czechoslovaks.

Bolshevik forces have taken the offensive against the Czechoslovak army in the Volga region and the government troops have won a great success, says a Russian official statement received here by wireless today from Moscow. The Czechoslovaks in Siberia also are reported to be retreating before a counter-offensive of the Russian Bolsheviks.

RUSSIAN REPORT.
The communication, which was sent out by the department of military operations of the People's Commissariat of War, reads:

"July 9: Czechoslovak front. After preparations for an offensive against the Bolsheviks, our forces, almost without loss, took Sverdlovsk, seventy miles south of Semipalatinsk, the capital of the Ural region, and Buguulska (130 miles northwest of Tcheliabinsk). The Czechoslovaks have an army of 10,000 Guards and 10,000 men in the direction of Samara. We are reaching Stavropol (in the Caucasus), Yaroslav (150 miles northeast of Moscow) and Nijniy Novgorod (400 miles northwest of Moscow).

"An armed train has violently shelled towns occupied by the White Guard, who are using it as a panic train in the White Volga. The Bolsheviks sent to Tcheliabinsk, where they tried to raise a mutiny. Masses have been taken against them.

CHERKES RETREAT.

"Eastern sector: Czechoslovak, after occupying Tcheliabinsk, now are retreating. A counter-offensive of the Bolsheviks is in progress.

"Our commander-in-chief of the Urals-Siberian front, Birsin, reports that Czechoslovak troops commanded by Russian officers have committed many atrocities upon the personnel of the West Siberian railway."

The objects of the new Siberian government are the conclusion of the Brest-Litovsk treaty and the establishment of a Russian republic with an autonomous Siberia, according to a member of the government in an interview with the Vladivostok correspondent of the Nichi Nihon. Kihimbo, says a Tokio dispatch in the Daily Express. It is also proposed to send troops against Germany, to secure national debt, which would be acknowledged.

GERMAN SHOOT SELF.

Gen. Muravieff, commander of the Bolshevik forces operating against the Czechoslovaks, has committed suicide, according to an official source. The dispatch which denounces Gen. Muravieff as a traitor, reads:

"He issued a false and treacherous order to his troops and sought to direct their efforts against the Soviet government of Russia. He ordered his men to advance against Moscow and at the same time he attacked the town of Sverdlovsk in the Volga region. The Soviet troops, however, declined to obey his orders and remained faithful to the Soviet's authority. Finding that the troops no longer followed the movement of the revolution, Traitor Muravieff shot himself."

"On the Czechoslovak front it is quiet and the situation is favorable to the Bolsheviks. Troops are still in the field for a further offensive against Czechoslovaks and White Guards."

Gen. Muravieff, under the impotent regime, was given the rank of colonel. Upon the outbreak of the revolution he joined the Bolsheviks and commanded the forces of the Red Guard. Gen. Muravieff, the latter was within fifteen miles of Petrograd. He continued in the service of the Bolsheviks, whom he now is accused of betraying.

RUSSIAN OF LONDON PEACE HOPES OF SUCCESS ON CZECHOSLOVAKS.

ATLANTIC CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH. LONDON, July 11.—Little is expected from the revolt in Moscow by the Russians here. They understand that it has been carried on by social revolutionists alone, the Bolsheviks are too firmly established and have built up the Red Guards into too strong a force to be overthrown by a single effort.

According to Russian authorities here there is, indeed, no great difference between the Bolsheviks and the Social Revolutionists. Both have the same political aims and for a time they worked together, but the Bolsheviks are recruited mainly from the industrial classes and factory workers.

ATY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.
BISBEE (Ariz.) July 11.—Thirty-five more civil suits seeking damages from several corporations and individuals as a result of the deportation of 1,136 striking copper miners and their families were filed at the U. S. Post Office. The total number of suits filed now is 272 and the damages sought amount to $5,845,000.

Thirty-four of the suits filed today asked $20,000 each and the other asked $25,000.

Today is the last day under the Arizona statutes on which suits in the deportation cases may be filed and it is expected by court attaches that a large number of additional actions will be entered.

NATIONAL SURVEY TO ADVISE WILSON ON ACTION IN RUSSIA.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—President Wilson's decision regarding participation in any plan to rehabilitate Russia will be influenced by the report of the United States Chamber of Commerce Foreign Committee, which meets next week. That organization has circulated a questionnaire dealing with Russia and proposed intervention.

This questionnaire is elaborate and when the answers are aggregated, analyzed and the total placed before the President, the result will be a reflection of the country's attitude toward Russia.

The questionnaire has been submitted in every American city to the leading business men, professional men and sociologists.

In the list of questions is one asking what form of intervention would seem best to the men interviewed and whether it should take the form of an industrial rebuilding or whether it should be commercial and in each case whether it should be accompanied by a military expedition and, if so, to what extent.

Starvation Rations.

VIENNA DAY'S FOOD CUT TO UNDER EIGHT OUNCES.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. J.

AALMINGEN, July 11.—An alarming state of the food situation in Vienna is described in a dispatch to the Berlin Tagblatt from its Vienna correspondent, who says:

"The daily rations per head are fixed at approximately three ounces of bread and flour substitutes, one ounce of meat, two and a half ounces of potatoes, three-quarters of an ounce of jam and a quarter of an ounce of war coffee, making the total daily allowance, seven and three-quarters ounces."

The rations may be supplemented by resources to private channels and by the payment of exorbitant prices, the correspondent says.

For example, flour can be secured by paying $1.50 a pound, meat $5 a pound; meat, at from $7.50 to $7, and horse flesh at $25.00 a pound. Meals cost $8.50.

"But can she?" he asks. "A fresh eastern expedition would necessitate the employment of an army large enough to occupy strategic lines and centers in Russia. Germany has had to send reinforcements to the Balkans, and can she find another new army for Russia? Her reserves may be immense, but they are not inexhaustible."

It is generally believed here that if the Germans venture to take a serious military action in Russia, Petrograd or other important centers will commit their biggest blunder of the war.

San Diego.
WOMEN MARRY, NOT FOR LOVE.
Seek Soldier Husbands, Also Their Allotment.

San Diego has Another Alleged Bigamy Case.

Pretty Cabaret Singer Wins Heart of Sailor.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.
SAN DIEGO, July 11.—That a wave of bigamy has struck the city is believed by the authorities, who have arrested two women within twenty-four hours, who are alleged to have married several husbands each, from whom they secured government allotments.

Mrs. Agnes M. E. Corbett-Stanton-Huff, pretty 21-year-old cabaret singer, was placed in the County Jail today, charged with bigamy. It is alleged that she married Ernest Blair-Huff, a sailor of Balboa Park training station, June 5, 1918, notwithstanding that August 21, 1918, she had married John E. Stanton, a soldier, whose true name is John E. Snell. Mrs. Stanton told the county detective that she drew an allotment from her first husband, but not from Huff.

Mrs. Dora V. Napier Welch-Fox, who was arrested Tuesday, is serving a term of imprisonment in the County Jail. She is the mother of two husbands, Earl L. Fox, a private at Fort Rosecrans, and Lawrence Welch, a private at Camp Pike. She received an allotment from each of them, the maximum deliverable to different addresses in the city.

Authorities are running down other military allotments and it is believed that many women have been accumulating soldier husbands in numbers in order that they might draw the war allotments. A report that one woman is drawing nine different allotments was being investigated today.

LECTURES AT BALBOA.

John Masefield, famous English poet who has been here this week giving war lectures before the men of the Army, under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A., gave his lecture in this country here this evening at Balboa Park. Masefield, who has been appointed as the official government lecturer to England to write the history of the great war, will leave soon for the war front. Masefield believes the decisive drive will take place in the next spring and will be the first to have his edge. His talk was received with the greatest enthusiasm by the men here. He gave a vivid history of the battle of the Somme and drew an interesting picture of the actual life of the British soldiers in the trenches that gave the men a much clearer insight of the British war than those who have been held by them.

SLIGHTLY MIXED.

Alleged Inaccuracy in City Tax Roll at Santa Barbara Arouses Citizens.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.
SANTA BARBARA, July 11.—Who killed Cook Robin? Is the question that the city authorities are inquiring into as a result of a mix-up in the city assessment, for 1918-19. Under the new charter James G. Stafford, who appraised Los Angeles, was employed to appraise this city, and turn his sheets over to City Assessor F. M. Whitney for correction, which were to form a basis for levying the next city tax.

The final day, under the charter, for Whitney to turn these rolls over, was Friday, July 13, 1918, at 12:30 o'clock on that date. City Manager R. A. Craig received the sheets from Stafford, and aroused Whitney from slumber to give them into his possession. He might remember that Whitney refused to take the Stafford appraisal unless the City Manager would write across it that the Council still had a roll of its own appraised, and the further the Council has into the rolls the worse the mix-up.

Stafford gave his rolls to Los Angeles, and the body of the rolls declare that the double assessments are due to Assessor Whitney making the Stafford appraisals with old tax rolls, and, finding a portion of the rolls had been put in a drawer, states that this lost roll contains all the appraisals missing from the sheets turned over to Whitney.

Whitney, contented with the statement that the appraisals are blameless; but in the meantime the City Council is in a big quandary, as the entire roll must be carefully gone over, and the assessments equalized in time to give the city a fair tax roll upon which to levy the tax for 1918-19.

The Home Guard, Mrs. Kevrey, who heads the Finance Committee, has been assured from the city officials that they will provide at least a portion of the funds needed to equip the company.

HANBY'S WIDOW IS ALHAMBRA RESIDENT.
HUSBAND ACHIEVED FAME AS AUTHOR OF SONG, "DARLING NELLIE GRAY."

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

ALHAMBRA, July 11.—It is likely that there are few people in Southern California, young or old, who are not in some measure familiar with that famous old ballad, dating back to the days of the Civil War, "Darling Nellie Gray," a song that has been sung throughout the nation for more than fifty years, and without which no collection of favorite songs of the older time is complete. Its haunting melody and pathetic story endeared it to thousands of Americans in days gone by, and even today it is being played on the family phonograph in countless homes here.

But what comparatively few people in this section do not know is that the man who gave this song to the world, has been a resident of Alhambra, living with his daughter, I. S. Jones, at No. 25 North Wilson Avenue. She is the 82 years of age, but is in the enjoyment of excellent health and with exceptional mental faculties unpreserved by the lapse of years.

WANT RECALL.

El Centro Citizens Circulate Petition to Ouse Mayor Watkins. Elected by "Dry's."

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

SOUTH PASADENA, July 11.—L. Beasley has been appointed city purchasing agent, a recently created position of the city building, plumbing and electrical inspector for some time, and will continue to serve in that capacity.

The request for the recall movement are also calling attention to the fact that Mayor Watkins is being circulated by friends of the liberal element in the city, who have been annoyed by Mayor Watkins's desire to insist upon the enforcement of the law.

Those who are in the recall movement are also calling attention to the fact that Mayor Watkins was tried last week by a jury in Justice Mayfield's court on the charge of being a member of the Ku Klux Klan while acting as a city official.

The jury disagreed in this case, and a second trial is pending. Watkins was elected two years ago on a strictly "dry" platform.

HOLDS CLEW TO MYSTERY FIRES.

Capture of Italian Here is Believed of Importance.

Rabid Anarchistic Pamphlets are Found in Suitcase.

Admits Belonging to I.W.W., Federal Officers Say.

Believed to be one of the most important anarchist captures of recent years, and to hold in his possession the clew to recent mystery fires in eastern shipyards, Guglielmo Fiorini, who was arrested Wednesday at the harbor, was subjected to a grueling four-hour examination by Federal officials yesterday.

A search of a suit case taken from Fiorini's ranch house near the harbor, at the time of his arrest, revealed nearly a hundred pamphlets of the most rabid type of anarchist literature. These pamphlets are now being translated from Italian into English, and will be used as evidence when the thirty-year-old foreigner is arraigned for trial.

A peculiar feature of the case is that the prisoner is claimed by the Department of Justice on a charge of sedition, by the Army Intelligence Bureau for alleged violation of the Espionage Act, and by the Harford draft board for prosecution on a charge of evading the selective draft.

Described as the "most notorious" of the Mooney Hang-A-Rape-Of-Justice," "Society of Death and Anarchy," "The Women and the Devil," by Paul Gorl, famous Italian anarchist; "Conquest of the Future," by Gorl; "Anarchy," "Our Order and Our Disorder," "Origin of the Rich," "The Moral Revolution," "Principles of Revolution," and the "Psychology of War."

Dozens of postcards and letters from famous anarchists in the United States and Europe were found, Federal officials say, among Fiorini's personal effects, and are yet to be translated.

Several recent copies of the "Orange County" anarchist newspaper published in Lynn, Mass., until banned by the government and its editors arrested, were found in the possession of anti-government literature.

Fiorini admitted to officers yesterday that he is an anarchist and a member of the I.W.W., and said that he is a member of both associations with these organizations. He is being held in close confinement in the County Jail pending further investigation.

Fiorini has been quietly working in the harbor district to undermine the loyalty of ship workers, and that he has been assisted by others of his type in the distribution of literature similar to that found in his possession, is the belief of Federal agents working on the behalf of the government.

Fiorini will appear for examination before United States Commissioner Long tomorrow morning.

Officials at Washington have had Fiorini under surveillance for many months, it is said, and much of his past correspondence has been received here to be used against him. One of his letters ends "Frater, truly Yours for Destruction."

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Came to this Woman after Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Her Health.

Elliensburg, Wash.—"After I was married I was not well for a long time and a good deal of the time was not able to go about. Our greatest desire was to have a child in our home and one day my husband came back from town with a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and wanted me to try it. It brought relief from my troubles. I improved in health so I could do my housework; we now have a little one, all of which I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. O. S. Johnson, R. No. 2, Ellensburg, Wash.

There are mothers everywhere whose children in their homes are yet denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in most cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope and should have a wonderful medicine at hand and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years experience is at your service.

RECALL ELECTION IN SAN DIEGO PENDING.

SAN DIEGO, July 11.—As a result of the school strike declared here some time ago by the high school students in protest against the removal of their teachers, a recall election is to be held on Saturday, the 27th, of the school board is pending. They are Mrs. Mary Lancaster, Mrs. Laura Johns and John Urquhart. Nearly 6000 names were signed to the petitions, which were sufficient to call the election. The City Attorney was to the legality of the recall of a school board.

In the meantime, more than twenty vacancies in the positions of teachers have not been filled by the board. During the discussions that followed the strike, the board promised Dr. E. C. Shielis, the superintendent, to fill the vacancies as soon as the arrival of the new school year. "Whatever decision is made, I am sure that the vacancies would not be filled until the arrival of the new school year," said Dr. Shielis.

"I do not favor an outsider for a place such as this in our schools," declared C. J. McCormick. "I do not intend to oppose his election, but I do not intend to support him either. I will perform his duties judiciously, I firmly believe that we have plenty of persons in our own city who are qualified to fill these vacancies. I am sure that it would be a great incentive to local educators to elect one of them."

J. H. Bean's opinion was similar. "I am strongly opposed to bringing an outsider to the school board," he said. "I want to be in harmony and beg to be excused from the meeting."

Lucius K. Chase said he was not strongly in favor of an outsider on the inside, but he would vote affirmatively for Mr. Gould in accordance with the wishes of the superintendent.

It might contain. We did not. We simply said there was nothing in that issue that seemed to violate the Espionage Act. I directed that the Russell should stop carrying copies of the Kingdom News."

Charles F. Lenz, district deputy for Los Angeles of the Knights of Columbus, who is also a member of the order, said last night:

"The action taken against Dist. Atty. O'Connor was news to me. We had not one convention, I know of, no meeting or district convention today. I had never heard mentioned before the Kingdom News matter, nor had I received any communication from Dr. John F. Slavin, State deputy, of San Francisco. His office is the head of the Knights of Columbus, and he has been elected to the office of the order."

STOP THE WASTE!

Mayor Wedman has enlisted, heart and soul, in the campaign against official waste. He proposes to lay the ax at the root of the tree, and cut off all the needless city commissions. Waste in administration is a greater peril than the Hun to America today. It threatens to exhaust our resources, to eat up our taxpayers and to paralyze our industries. The drain upon business is such that it cannot keep going much longer without relief. While workers suffer and children go without white bread, hardened, office-holding scuricars are all the time fattening up, political leeches are still sucking blood. It is preposterous to maintain that the same numbers of city employees are required as were needed when building was most active and improvements were most numerous. City business and county business have fallen off and the forces must be reduced—just as would be done by a private concern. The situation calls for a survey of municipal and county pay rolls, as well as of the State's. The Times hopes the City Council and the Board of Supervisors will co-operate in the movement to stop the waste, put our government on a war basis and conserve our resources for meeting the frightful cost of eliminating Hun treachery from the world. Of all non-essentials the needless office-holder is the most costly. America, California, Los Angeles, cannot afford him. The loyal, useful men of real service in public office deserve honor and fair pay but the political drones must be turned loose, to work or fight.

WHAT, ALREADY?
Former Ambassador Gerard is talked of as the Democratic nominee for Governor of New York. Reminding us that President Wilson said that politics "is adjourned."

UNACCOUNTED FOR.
Hearst's Paris correspondent handed over to the French government $11,000, which he said Bolo Pasha had "loaned" him. That leaves to be accounted for $2,989,000 of Bolo's $3,000,000 fund to purchase the friendship for Germany of American newspapers and their proprietors.

THE WAR AND RELIGION.
Current novels and war books reflect very vividly the renaissance of religious feeling evoked by the war. A few years ago skeptics and cynical authors were scoffing at things spiritual; but now a deep and wide feeling runs around the world for things of the spirit; and something akin to the old earnestness that sustained America during the darkened days of the rebellion is again manifest.

PROTECTING THE WOMEN.
The attitude of the armed Prussian and the American toward women is quite different. Three soldiers who had wronged a girl were publicly hanged in one of the great American camps. For like offenses in Belgium there are German soldiers now wearing the iron cross as conferred by the Kaiser. And in the case of the American soldiers, their punishment would have been just as speedy and certain had their victim been a German girl.

PUTTING THE STRIKERS IN PLACE.
The Pacific Electric strikers have learned some things about the war. Judge Bledsoe's decision had all the points necessary to the issuance of a sweeping injunction even in time of peace; but it laid special emphasis on the point that a body of men, essential to the industrial need of the country, should not strike in time of war. This does not suppose that any of those men would care to be in Russia now; yet it was largely such tactics as theirs among the industrial workmen over there that has plunged Russia into chaos.

RISING THE TIN.
The necessities of war naturally turn American effort in the direction of the full development of the country's resources. It was a sure thing that America could raise "the tin" and this is understood now through the government's opening and working the tin deposits in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. The existence of these mining possibilities was known, but for lack of capital or interest the deposits had never been developed. It seemed easier to bring the stuff from Wales, the Straits Settlements or Bolivia. But now when Americans must conquer America the tin mines of old Virginia are being fully exploited. And it is well. Why should the Americans monkey with the pauper tin of any old world but our own? The so-called tin can of commerce, the summer boarder and the hobo carries but the merest ghost of tin. It is made of sheet iron which has had a faint plunge in a bath of liquid tin, but this bath is of prodigies import to a great and powerful California industry. The tin-can consumption of this State is something tremendous.

Give US OPEN PRIMARIES.
Government by commission in California has been fairly challenged. An "Association for the Betterment of Public Service" has been formed in Los Angeles county. Similar associations are forming in a number of other counties of the State. The avowed purpose is to reduce the extravagant cost of government in California. To use the words of President Barker of the Los Angeles county association, "The State government has gone legislation mad and commission mad." The first offensive of the new association will be against the plunder band that has control of the State Legislature. Before same and economical government can be secured men of known probity, sanity and intelligence must be elected to legislative office. The financial policy of the State government at present is wholly dominated by the State machine. The hundred and odd commissioners of the forty fat commissions and their 2000 retainers are seeking to dictate a legislative slate for the State primaries in both the Republican and Democratic parties. If they control the party nominations, all opportunity of reducing the expenses of the State for next year will have been lost. None of those commissions has reduced its force or pay roll in order to release men and money to help win the war. If they have not done so this year, it is morally certain that they will not do so next year. But six weeks remain to get the right men in line for the next Assembly. If they are not nominated in the August primaries they will not be elected in November; and it is equally certain that they will not be nominated in the primaries if their petitions are not filed with the Secretary of State within the next two weeks.

THE greatest handicap to the nomination of good men at the primary election is the so-called direct primary itself. The California primary law now in effect was framed and forced through the Legislature by the political mercenaries of the forty fat commissions. It is so worded that the incumbents have a great advantage over those on the outside. Its whole purpose is to keep the government and finances of the State in the hands of the political machine now in power. It is not a direct primary but a closed primary.

Before there can be genuine reform in California, before the cost of government can be reduced to the average of other States of like population, the election laws of the State must be so amended that other than self-nominations will not be prohibited. Take the present instance. An association has been formed for the purpose of selecting legislative candidates pledged to a consolidation of State departments and commissions which will very materially reduce the present cost of State government. Yet it will be impossible to designate on the November ballot the candidates supported by this association.

There are two recognized ways of nominating candidates for public office, by petition and by convention. A fair and equitable primary law would give to the voters the choice of these two systems. But the California primary law has been so amended that one form of nomination is expressly forbidden. Nomination by petition is made the only form; nomination by convention (without petition) is not possible under the law.

The Times does not presume to set up the claim that nomination by convention is the only way to secure representative candidates. We would be just as strongly opposed to a primary law which prohibited nomination by petition as we are to the present one that prohibits nomination by convention.

The Times asserts that the only fair way is to give the candidates and the voters their choice. The Times holds that a State law under which no candidate can state his platform officially before he is nominated is a perversion of good government. The Times holds that a party platform which is drafted by the candidates after their nomination is morally certain to be a platform which favors the tax-eaters at the expense of the taxpayers.

Here the judgment of Solomon surely applies. If nomination by petition is superior to nomination by convention, then the candidates so nominated would win in the general election. The very fact that not one candidate in a hundred nominated by petition would win if the convention form of nomination were permitted is in itself an unanswerable argument of a law which permits so-called direct nominations only.

It is true that many conventions in the past have been dominated by political machines; but the protection against such domination is afforded by the alternative of nomination by petition. A candidate who loses in the convention should be permitted to get his name on the ballot by petition if he and his friends so desire. Some of the politicians may urge that a man who has gone into a convention should be forced to abide by its decision. This may be ethically true; but the restriction has been abused. Fairness is to be found in latitude for nominations, not in restrictions.

III.

CALIFORNIA's government has been bad for a generation. But it has never been so extravagant and so dictatorial as at the present time. The real reign of the machine began when a closed primary law was passed which prohibited nomination by convention. It will not be ended until that inhibition is removed. In most of the American States the primaries are open. A candidate makes his choice and the voter makes his choice. But the California direct primary law permits nomination by petition only. And in that provision resides the unfair advantage of the State machine.

Amending that law will not be easy of accomplishment. The men who would permit nomination either by petition or convention must first be nominated in a primary open to nomination by petition only. In other words, we must beat the machine at its own game before the present law can be amended. But the history of our republic reveals that the American people have a wonderful ability for adapting themselves to existing conditions and getting what they want

SISTERS OF THE SOIL.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

I met a little farmerette. She was seven years old, she said. Her brow was wet with honest sweat. Like beads 'round her fair head.

"Sisters and brothers little chick, How many may you be?" "How many? Hats!" she said right quick. And calmly looked at me.

"I am the sister of the ox. And of the lowing kine. I'm shepherdess of fleecy docks, And keeper of the swine."

"I'm queen to many swarms of bees, With hives I've cast my lot. So what the home nest holds for me I swan I've quite forgot."

Miss Effuvia Woonsocket—Effie for short—who has been stenograging for the Narcissus Shirt Company, is now farming for the Rosedale ranch.

It is her contribution to the great cause.

The ranch was in need of a few persons who could assist in the education and care of an interesting little colony of Jersey calves and also a group of young turks in the noble art of hustling for themselves.

Effie has had a long vacation on account of people not wearing shirts any more, so she was out on the ranch. She was not exactly an adept in the rearing of heifers, nor can she tell the light from the dark meat on a turkey with her eyes shut, but she has a kind heart and is willing to learn, so they make her welcome most anywhere.

I used to be quite patient with her in the old days when she canvassed her precinct in the interest of votes for me. Now that she is a burly example of the more prosaic thought of sheaf for women, she is neither less enthusiastic nor less charming.

She came back to town the other day to get some talcum powder and other necessities of life. We met in the corner drug store and as we chatted a couple of dagoes of Makah who she told me about it.

"All the cowboys have gone into the manufacturing business to keep from going to war," she explained. "So it was up to me to save my country by saving my country's heifers from perishing of thirst."

Effie was wearing an olive drab blouse with gilt buttons; knickerbockers to match; grained leather puttees; tan shoes and a fedora hat of the same color scheme. She was awful easy to look at. You sure it's easy to look at.

"That helps," she admitted. "Just because I work on a ranch is no sign I have to look like a slob. I'll admit that I'm 'handier' with the curling tong than with the branding iron, but I'm healthy and strong and willing and they do say that I'm some use around the place. Old Man Galloway didn't think much of me at first. Guess he thought I was some sort of a settlement worker that had come down to see that he treated his horses with proper respect. Also he didn't know what to make of my uniform. He thought he ought to call me Patsy or Claude. But he's all right now and a good old scout at that.

He came back to town the other day to get some talcum powder and other necessities of life. We met in the corner drug store and as we chatted a couple of dagoes of Makah who she told me about it.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC'S ZONE PLAN OPPOSED.

UNFAIR TO PEOPLE IN OUT- SKIRTS, IT IS HELD; SUBUR- BAN TOWNS PROTEST.

This will be protest day at the Pacific Electric Railway rate-increase hearing before the State Railroad Commission. All suburban cities will present their objections to line abandonment, service curtailment and rate increase, through Albert Lee Stephens, City Attorney of Los Angeles. In his present case, the city attorney from each community represented will argue his special points.

The hearing yesterday confined itself for the most part to a discussion of the zone plan. At one stage of the proceedings Pacific Electric officials introduced a request for permission to charge a minimum of 6 cents for all local fares, but the proposal was withdrawn when it became evident that it would take a great deal of time to prepare an application and argue the case. What the Pacific Electric is asking is a quick decision on its application for a general advance in rates.

Considerable opposition to the idea of charging 6 and 7-cent fares beyond the five and one-half miles limit of the city of Los Angeles developed at the hearing. City Attorney Stephens voiced the opinion that the people who live at the outskirts went there and bought homes to enjoy certain privileges, and that they should be unfair to possible good citizenship by establishing a zone fare plan in the city limits.

In its application for permission to raise its rates the Pacific Electric sought to reduce the zone lines and discontinue service on others in certain suburban towns, principally Redlands, Pomona and Santa Monica. City Attorney McLucas of Santa Monica protested against this, and the zone line in the Eighth-street line, which serves Santa Monica High School. City Attorney Munger of Pasadena objected to certain proposed increases in local rates, and said in his case in cases the advance in cost of riding on Pasadena lines would be 100 per cent.

The Pacific Electric plans to offer rates to the zone cities, which will be good forty days from date of sale regardless of the day of the month on which the sale is made.

COUNCILMEN IN TILT OVER ROAD

Need at Terminal Island is Told by Farmer.

Is Essential to Progress of Shipbuilding.

Other Members, However, Vote for a Delay.

President Farmer of the City Council yesterday accused his colleagues of "stalling" when they voted to delay the building of a road on Terminal Island, between the plant of the Southwestern Shipbuilding Company and an improved highway leading to Los Angeles proper. He told them that nothing could be gained by further delay, that each member knows exactly what is wanted and that it is a patriotic duty to construct the road at the earliest possible moment.

The Council members took issue with the President, each declaring that he favored the road that will help win the war, but not ready to railroad any proposition.

The discussion followed the reading of a request from T. W. Ransome, chairman of the San Pedro South Shipping Board, that a road be constructed at once. He said it is essential to progress in the harbor and to bring in the contracts of the Southwestern Shipbuilding Company to carry out its big contracts.

NEED OF THE ROAD.

It was originally proposed that Los Angeles build a road to connect with an improved highway in Long Beach. Some objection was raised to this proposition upon the ground that if a road is built it should throw business into Los Angeles rather than neighboring cities.

"You should take into consideration the fact that Long Beach is in the United States just as much as Los Angeles is," said President Farmer, "and the Council should be asked to quibble over extraneous matters when the object is to build a road and build it at once. I am satisfied that the people will back the Council in their efforts toward the construction of a road that will benefit the shipbuilders."

Councilman Mallard retorted that the people elected the Council to be their representatives and to back their interests. "That is true enough," President Farmer replied, "but I insist that the Council cannot be on the square with the public unless it does something."

TALK OF FERRYBOAT.

Notwithstanding the protest by President Farmer, the Council instructed the Harbor Commission to build a road to the ferry landing on Terminal Island and the probable cost of a ferryboat to run across the channel to Fifth Street, San Pedro.

Mr. Farmer said he had talked with Capt. Pillsbury and others, who told him that it would not be feasible to negotiate now for a ferryboat.

"I am going to present a resolution tomorrow calling for immediate action," said Farmer. "I have promised to report to the government the attitude of the Council and will certainly do so."

"I assume from the statement of the Council," said Mr. Mallard, "that they are not in any immediate position to do anything."
